LOCAL NEWS.

And the goose keeps her altitude.

Tuesday was a fine day for the election.

Next fall. Well, next fall. Just wait until next fall.

The Methodist Sunday school numbered seventy-one last Sunday.

T. B. White is up from Texas. Tom came a thousand miles to vote for Singer.

Who tore down the Globe type is the next question. Let the scoundrel be hunted down.

Rev. A. P. George is attending the district conference of the M. E. Church at Great Bend this week.

On account of sickness Rev. J. F. Tooker will be unable to fill his appointment here next Sunday.

Mr. Short, who has been in the employ of Mr. Ballard, has gone to spend the winter in Sedan, Kas.

Mrs. Hartman and Mrs. States went as delegates from Dodge to the Methodist Conference at Great Bend this week.

Samuel Gallagher has purchased H. J. Fringer's interest in the drug business, and will conduct the business in the future.

H. F. May and wife, who have been visiting the family of M. W. Sutton, returned to their home in Decatur, Ill., on Saturday last.

There is a feeble laugh over the election result. There will be a faint flutter along the line before the spring election takes place.

MARRIED.—On the 6th inst., by H. J. Fringer, Probate judge, John A. McKinney, and Miss Cynthia Branch, all of Ford county.

J. F. Moore, wife and daughter Maud, who were visiting in the city last week, on their return from the east, left for their home in La Veta, Colo., on Saturday last.

J. W. Sidlow feels grateful to his friends for their support. He does not run behind his ticket, and it is shown that it was no sacrifice to offer him as a candidate.

About 3,000 cars of cattle have been shipped from Dodge City the present season. The shipment of stock is not done with by a good many cars. The shipment will extend another month.

There was a very slight storm after all. It appears to be too weak a victory to make much fuss over it. Probably some of the means used to carry the election won't bear probing to the bottom.

Dr. McCarty and Geo. T. Hinkel and families returned from a hunting expedition south, after an absence of two weeks. They found an abundance of game. Their trip extended several hundred miles, and was beneficial to every one in the party.

The tearing up of the Globe forms made a commotion on Monday. But why was nothing said Tuesday and nothing said Wednesday. Why this painful silence? It is time for the diabolical deed to be definitely fixed on some one, and the finger of scorn point at the scoundrel.

The members of the M. E. Church and the friends of the pastor, Rev. A. P. George, gave a pound party at the pastor's residence on Friday night last. The contribution amounted to $65 in money and goods. Mr. George is doing good work in the cause he represents, and the pay is meagre enough, though the people are charitable and kind and give according to their means.

A fine assortment of "speaking" dolls to be found at Mrs. Lemert's millinery rooms, north of the Wright House.

Every smoker should try "Little Joker."

Geo. C. Milo, the Chicago preacher of the Unity church in that city, who was renounced for his heretic doctrines, and who has developed a Shakespearean actor, played in Hamlet, in this Thursday night last. Mr. Milo is a fine dramatic performer and the Dodge City audience was well pleased with his rendition of the celebrated character. An amusing circumstance is connected with the exhibition of the Milo dramatic company in this city. A Kansas City paper contained a statement that, should the Milo company perform in Dodge City, the ghost in the play would be perforated by some unregenerated cowboy. The opinion was expressed that cowboys were unused to Shakespearean sentiments. It was observed that the ghost did not leave the folds of the stage curtains at the side but this incident was not thought of at the time. After the performance the manager related the newspaper item, and then the laugh came in. The company were not apprised of the character of the audience until after the performance. Had the audience known the fear of the company, some fun might have been purposely played upon the "tenderfoot" dramatic company. We make this statement, partly to show that Dodge retains some of her former reputation, though at no time in her history has Dodge been so depraved as the Kansas City paper would make it appear.

The forms of the Globe were pried on the press, on Sunday night last, after the edition had been worked off. The type has not been rendered useless, as has been stated, but can be put in shape again at little expense. This is a diabolical act. We denounce it in unmeasured terms, and we care not by whom committed, or for what purpose. The proprietor of the Globe ought to use the utmost means to ferret out the perpetrator of the villainy. No punishment is too severe for him. If the act was committed for political effect it had the desired purpose. If to gratify revenge, it was a hellish affair. If for a malicious object the perpetrator can hope for no reward. We trust that an effort will be made to lay the blame where it belongs. The editor of the TIMES feels that a similar wrong might be done him by some person who might feel aggrieved at the course of this paper. As a matter of justice we hope the citizens will not let this matter rest until the affair has been probed to the bottom. The laws of this country allow the freedom of the press. If an editor commits blunders or wilfully slanders people, there is a redress. If he pursues the wrong policy the people apply the remedy and withhold support.

The Williams' Dramatic Co.
This company which is favorably known here, will commence an engagement at the Opera House on Tuesday, Nov. 13, remaining five nights. Miss Mattie Williams will appear the first night in the title role of her new play "The Little Duchess," her rendition of which has received the highest praise in all the cities in Kansas in which she has appeared. She is supported by a full company of dramatic artists, and an excellent orchestra. The company also carry an elegant uniformed silver cornet band. There will be an entire new programme each evening. Reserved seats 75cts can be procured at Garland's drug store. General admission 50cts.

Corner-Stone Laying.
The laying of the corner-stone of the new Methodist church building will take place with the usual and appropriate ceremonies on Wednesday, Nov. 14th, commencing at 10 o'clock, a. m. Elder Buckner will conduct the ceremonies. The foundation of the church edifice is nearing completion, and the building when completed will be the finest in Dodge City.

Notice is hereby given that the stock books of Eureka Irrigating Canal Company will be opened for subscription for the capital stock of said company at the store of George Hall (postoffice) in Spearville, Kansas, on the first day of December, 1883, and will remain open until the 17th of Dec., 1883.

DISSOLUTION.—Any partnership or contract heretofore existing between H. J. Fringer and Samuel Gallagher, was dissolved by mutual consent on the 3d day of November, 1883. The business will be conducted by Samuel Gallagher, who will pay all debts.

H. J. FRINGER.

NOTICE.—Members of the E. A. U. are requested to attend on Tuesday evening November 13th, 1883, at 7:30 o'clock. Business of importance.

On to Dodge.
C. R. Miller arrived in Kingman last Monday with his surveying corps. He is under instructions to run a line from Kingman to Dodge City. The engineers are at work, and the line will be surveyed as speedily as possible. We understand it will require about three months to complete the survey, according to that calculation the road will not push out from Kingman until next spring or summer. It is the intention of the company to construct the line west from Kingman intersecting the main line of the Santa Fe at Dodge City. This materially shortens the line from St. Louis to the Pacific coast, and will be the trunk line for coast travel and freight. Now, we prefer being a point on a great trunk line to the terminus of a bob-tail. When this route is constructed, we have direct communication with Colorado and Pacific coast trade, which is better market for all our produce than eastward. What we want is a direct outlet westward. Over this line we have it. The route will be used by the Santa Fe and Frisco jointly. While it might tend to build up a town by terminating at this place, still when it becomes known that we are a point on a trans-continental route, our improvements will be more substantial and permanent, and our town can build with a degree of certainty that is not attached to the end of probabilities.—Kingman Citizen.

Mr. F. M. Reamer has sold his lease of the Farmer's Mills with his machinery connected therewith to Messrs. W. G. Reamer, his brother, and Willis Myers, of Neodesha, while he himself goes to Dodge City, where he has purchased a half interest in a mill of Mr. O. Marsh. He will move there in the course of a few weeks. We regret to lose Mr. Reamer and his excellent family from our city. We hope they will prosper at their new home.—Chetopa Advance.

PANHANDLE ITEMS.

[From the Panhandle.]

—A herd of 350 head of beef cattle belonging to A. & H. V. Rowe passed town Wednesday en route to Dodge City for shipment.

—One of D. W. Van Horne & Co.'s trains, in charge of Mickey Hession, arrived last Saturday with 25,000 pounds of merchandise.

Ben Jackson arrived Sunday with his mule train, bringing 12,500 pounds. Jackson's load was high classed freight, for the transportation of which he received $2.25 to $3.00 per hundred pounds.

—We have this fall a good indicator of approaching winters in these parts. For a day or two before the polar wave the yellow wasps come into the houses by the dozen. They are probably a dispensation of providence to meet the scarcity of wood.

—The heavy rains of the past few weeks have delayed all of the freight trains, several of which are now some days past due. The streams have been swollen and their quicksand loosened all the way down, while the condition of the roads are described as fearful.

—Polk Jeffries, a cowboy working for Sam White, was found dead on the prairie Wednesday, about two miles from the Jubacke headquarters ranch. The last seen of him alive was several days since, when he left the ranch to come to Moberlie, and the folks out there supposed him to be in town until Tuesday evening, when one of the boys riding in the range came upon his horse tied to a tree. It was too late to make any search that evening, but Wednesday morning they started out and Fayette Parker found the unfortunate Polk about 200 yards from where the horse had been tied, lying stark and stiff and covered with a slicker. His hat was about a hundred yards from the body, which was in an out-of-the-way canyon. Parker at once came into town and gave the news, when Deputy Sheriff Shaw, deputized as coroner for the occasion, and several of our citizens repaired to the place. It was at once discovered, on uncovering the body that the deceased had been shot. The bullet had entered just under one eye and come out at the side of the head. The body had evidently been thrown into the creek bed above, near where the horse had been tied, and washed down to the place where found, having been caught and held by the rocks. Letters he had been bringing in to mail for different parties were found scattered along down the stream. There was a piece of muslin fastened to the lapel of the vest of the murdered man with a fish hook, which bore the words in ink "Cow Thief." The body was badly decomposed, showing that the murder had been committed some days. This was also shown by the sign the tied horse had made and his very feeble condition when found. Two unknown men, who had stayed over night at the ranch, left there in company with Jeffries the morning he started to town—the last time he was seen alive.

Every effort will be made to discover the perpetrators of this heinous deed. If any man may kill his enemy and pin "Cow Thief" to his body to cover up the cause—may be judge, jury and executioner, we are in the midst of a bad state of affairs.

A million and a half of the new two-cent postage stamps are being daily printed, and this fails to supply the demand. It has been said of us that we are a nation of letter-writers, and it looks now as though a good lot of work in that line had been staved off in view of the reduction.

THE STATE'S ATTORNEY.—The rendition of the above very laughable comedy at the opera-house last evening by the renowned John Dillon, was witnessed by a large audience, that fully enjoyed the efforts of the company to please. John Dillon is the same well-known, laughable piece of stage furniture that he always was in many other plays that he has made famous, but shows to a better advantage in this, his latest favorite. He keeps his hearers in a roar from beginning to the close. He is well supported throughout, and there was not a solitary flaw apparent in the entertainment last evening. The part of the villain, "Squire Rouse the land shark and village postmaster," was well sustained by Scott Marble, and won the utter derision of all present. Miss Nellie Walters as "Tacey Betram, the Quakeress," was a lovely creation and her rendition was forcible and pathetic. All the parts were well taken and all deserve especial mention which we are unable to give.—Kansas City Journal.

John Dillon will appear in Dodge City, Monday November 12th. Reserved seats may be had at E. R. Garland's drug store.
